

Mahatma Gandhi Is Weakening As Fast Continues

Poona, India, Sept. 22 (AP).—Mahatma Gandhi, already weakening after the first two days of his "death fast," faced the crisis of his struggle with the British government today.

"It's today or never!" said G. D. Birla of the Hindu Emergency Committee which has been trying to bring about a compromise over the problem of the electoral rights of the depressed classes, the cause for which the Mahatma entered upon his starvation fast Tuesday.

In the "condemned" cell of Yeroda jail, to which Gandhi was moved yesterday because it offered more commodious quarters for the many visitors who came to see him, the spare and emaciated leader of India's millions continued to squat cross-legged on a webbed cot, but his voice was growing weaker when the last of his callers left him last night.

The committee was putting forth every effort today to bring about a compromise agreement which would satisfy Gandhi. The members were spurred by the belief that whatever is done must be done quickly if the Mahatma's life is to be saved.

Whatever agreement is reached must then be submitted to Prime Minister MacDonald for the approval of the government. Gandhi's friends fear that in his present condition he will not last long if his fast is continued.

Reclining at ease on his cot, beneath a mango tree, Gandhi talked for two hours to leaders of the groups of the depressed classes which favor a joint electorate.

The Mahatma had most of the talking, occasionally drinking water from a bottle on a stand beside his cot, adding a pinch of soda. As the day grew warmer he increased the frequency of his drinks.

On another table were his favorite books, including one on astronomy. This evening the entire special committee of caste Hindus and representatives of the depressed classes met in another part of the prison for what might be the final conference on the issue of separate electorates.

The hour was late, however, and since there were still many points to be settled before the plan is submitted to Gandhi, it was possible that an adjournment might be necessary.

CONSUMER'S INFORMATION FOR THE DAIRY INDUSTRY

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—Establishment of a consumer's information service for the dairy industry of the state was announced today by Charles H. Baldwin, commissioner of agriculture and markets.

The information service is designed to make available latest data on milk and other agricultural products to give the consumers and producers the advantage of the most favorable markets and prices. One of the purposes, said Commissioner Baldwin, is to increase the per capita consumption of milk in the state to a total daily figure of 13,000,000 quarts. Present consumption, the commissioner said, is about half that amount.

"There are indications," Baldwin said, "that the restrictions upon the buying power of the public, which have been so disastrously apparent for the past two years, may soon be relieved. Prices of basic foods will probably share gradually in such improvement. Particularly if these indications are justified by events, the next year or two will be a peculiarly favorable time for inducing the public to give to the dairy and other agricultural products of New York state the increased place in the household budget which is justified by true food economy."

RECENT PLOTS AGAINST LIFE OF KING AHMED ZOG

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP).—Despite the simple life of Albanian self-sufficient peasants, Europe's youngest kingdom apparently is far from shockproof.

Evidence of this is seen in recent plots against King Ahmed Zog. In the face of the government's boast that it has been less affected by the world depression than others.

Seven Albanian intellectuals have been sentenced to death because of the plots, uncovered in August when preparations were being made to celebrate the fourth anniversary of the youthful Zog's coronation on September 1.

The government charges these plots to outside influences. Zog, raised to the throne from the presidency, by the national assembly, had a long and stormy political career before being crowned, but peace had smacked his tenure of the throne.

Zog, Albania's first native king, is 35 years old. He is an hereditary chieftain, head of the Zogolli, one of the chief ruling clans. Minister of the Interior in 1924, he resigned after an attempt on his life, and was elected president a year later.

According to the Newburgh police Coster was wanted there in connection with an explosion in a restaurant. Coster is a former well known prizefighter.

Sealed Verdict Of No Cause Of Action

Returned in Suit Brought By Harry Wasserman Against Abraham Hayden—Indefinite Action Disposed of.

A sealed verdict was returned at the opening of county court this morning in the negligence action, brought by Harry Wasserman against Abraham Hayden. The verdict was for the defendant, no cause of action. Joseph Kooperman appeared for plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook for defendant. Wasserman sued for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained when he fell from a truck near Kerhonkson which was being operated by a son of the defendant.

An undetected action brought by Edward B. Loughran, John T. Loughran and Margaret L. Cook, copartners of the firm of B. Loughran & Company, plumbers, was disposed of. Edward B. Loughran testified that in 1928 he submitted a bid for certain plumbing work at the premises of Louis Lakretz and Pauline Lakretz on Lucas avenue. His bid for the work for $65, exclusive of rock excavation which might be necessary. He was awarded the contract and installed the plumbing. Rock was encountered and its removal cost $131.11. An action was brought to recover the sum of $196.11 plus $31.97 interest to date. The court directed a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $248.05.

No further cases were ready and court recessed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The day calendar for that time is: Nos. 28, 16, 31, 59, 13, 39, 41, 42, 44, 45, and 51.

Before adjourning court Judge Traver stated that he understood that the large civil calendar this term was due to the fact that attorneys desired a speedy trial of the matters and that the actions could be disposed of in county court sooner than before the supreme court. He said that he was ready to dispose of the cases and would convene court again next week in order that this speedy justice sought might be had. An opportunity would be given next week to dispose of as many cases as counsel desired to but he suggested that attorneys cooperate with the court to the end that more work might be done next week than had been done this week when it was difficult to find cases ready for trial. Judge Traver asked counsel in the various cases on the day calendar to keep in touch with the calendar and be ready when their actions were called so that court and attorneys might work to better purpose next week and expedite the work of the court.

Cisterns Are Empty Owing To Drouth

Water Board Receives Requests from Householders to Fill Empty Cisterns as They Are Without Water—Cooper's Lake 8 Feet Below Normal.

The long continued drouth in this locality has had its effect on cisterns located on properties on the outskirts of the city which are now empty. The Kingston water department receives request at frequent intervals to fill the cisterns with water.

Today the water board filled two cisterns on Ulster street and one on Rock street in North Roadcut. These houses are not connected with the city water service, which does not extend to the houses, and as a result all water for household use is drawn from cisterns on the property.

Lines of hose are stretched and attached to the nearest fire hydrant and the water turned on until the cisterns are filled. The water board makes a nominal charge of $1 for filling an empty cistern. One cistern that was filled recently required the stretching of 1,800 feet of hose to reach the cistern from the nearest fire hydrant.

As a result of the drouth the water in Cooper's lake which supplies the water for city use is eight feet below normal. Last year the lowest level recorded was 12 feet below normal. Owing to the many improvements made to Kingston's water system by the water board Kingston has plenty of water. It has not been necessary this year to draw on the Sawkill reserve supply reservoir for water, and it is not expected that it will be necessary to do so.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE CAMPAIGNS ALONE.

New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—A man rode alone today into the West, seeking the presidency of the United States.

He will campaign in 17 states. There will be speeches by day and speeches by night, and he will match his rest in sleeping cars as he rolls into the northwest, to California and to Texas.

Norman Thomas, a Socialist candidate for president for the second time in four years, made no tentative claims of victory as he left New York last night. He said: "I've always had a chance if enough people vote. But if I'm defeated, an organized Socialist movement with a big vote may stop present destructive trends."

He expressed doubt that even should he be elected he would be able to do a great deal toward immediate relief for conditions he decried without a majority of his party in the Senate.

285,000 Fire In Wellsville

Wellsville, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—A three-story wooden structure was burned and another three story building was partially destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early this morning. Damage was estimated by fire officials at $25,000.

Ulster Co. Third In Grape Growing

Farm Bureau Says "Buy Ulster County Grapes"—Home Furnishings Suggests Recipes for Using Them.

According to a report by the Farm Bureau, Ulster county ranks third in the production of grapes in New York state and produces nearly 15,000,000 pounds of grapes each year. The majority of the grapes are shipped to the metropolitan markets by truck.

The grape harvest is getting into full swing and the Farm Bureau suggests that all consumers demand Ulster county grapes. The Home Bureau cooperates by providing a number of fine recipes. And fine Ulster county Concord grapes are delicious to eat fresh. The distinctive color, flavor and fragrance are maintained in juice, jelly, ketchup or conserve.

Grape-Juice Sauce (for ham).
1 tablespoon cornstarch.
1 cup cold water.
2 cup hot water.
1 cup grape juice.
Juice of 1 lemon.
Mix the cornstarch with the cold water; add the hot water. Cook until the mixture thickens, and add the fruit juices. Serve hot.

Grape Juice Sponges.
2 tablespoons granulated gelatine.
1 pint grape juice.
4 egg whites, beaten stiff.
Add gelatine to grape juice. Heat in double boiler until gelatine dissolves. Strain into bowl, sweeten to taste, and set bowl in ice water. When the mixture begins to thicken, beat until light and fold in the egg whites.

Grape Juice Charlotte.
Grape Juice sponges (preceding recipe).
3 cup heavy cream.
Half pint individual molds (first dipped in cold water), with 2/3 of the sponge. To the remainder add the cream, which has been beaten stiff. Fill the molds with this mixture and chill. Remove from molds to serving dish and garnish with whipped cream.

Grape Ice.
1 cup sugar.
1 cup grape juice.
1 1/2 cup water.
1/4 cup orange juice.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
Boil the sugar and water together for five minutes. Mix all ingredients together, strain and freeze.

Grape Roll.
Line a mold evenly with frozen marshmallow or vanilla ice cream, and fill the center with grape ice frozen just long enough to pack well, leaving no air spaces. Cover with a sheet of white paper, press the cover down tight, and seal the crack with a thick layer of fat that is hard at a freezing temperature. The crack must be completely covered. Bury the mold in cracked ice and salt, using four parts of ice to one of salt by measure. Let the mold stand for three or four hours before serving.

Frank Punch.
1 1/2 cups water.
1 1/2 cups sugar.
1 quart grape juice.
2 quarts chilled water.
Juice of 6 lemons.
Juice of 6 oranges.
1 pint tea.
1 pint grated pineapple.
Boil water and sugar ten minutes. Cool and add other ingredients and let stand one hour. Add chilled water and serve with cracked ice. This recipe will serve twenty-five people.

Grape Jelly.
Wash five pounds of grapes and remove from the stems. Add cold water to about 1/2 the depth of the fruit. Cook the fruit until it loses its shape. Remove from the fire and drain in a jelly bag. Measure the juice and boil it for five minutes. Add two-thirds as much sugar as juice by measure, and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly until it sheets from the spoon. Pour into clean, hot jelly glasses, filling to the top. When cold, seal with hot paraffin.

A peculiarity of grape jelly is its tendency to crystallize on standing. Two medium-sized tart apples diced and added to the grapes while they are cooking will prevent formation of the crystals. The flavor of the apple is not apparent and the texture of the jelly is improved.

Spiced Grapes.
7 pounds of grapes.
1 pint vinegar.
5 pounds sugar.
2 tablespoons cinnamon.
1 tablespoon cloves.
1 teaspoon mace.
Wash the grapes and pick from the stem. Slip the pulp from the skins and cook for a few minutes until soft. Rub the pulp through a coarse sieve to remove the seeds. Combine pulp with skins. Add the sugar and spices and cook the mixture until clear and thick. Seal at once in sterilized jars.

Pickled Grapes.
Select bunches of grapes of uniform size and ripeness. They should not be overripe. Without removing the grapes from the stems after washing, pack the bunches closely in clean glass jars, being careful not to crush the fruit. Make a syrup of 1 1/2 cups of white sugar to 1 cup of water and boil together for 5 minutes. Pour the hot syrup over the grapes to fill the jars to overflowing and seal. The grapes keep their shape and color as well when preserved this way, and are excellent served as a relish or used for garnishing.

New Tax Collections Cut Into Deficit Of Federal Government

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP).—Approaching their maximum yields, taxes in the billion-dollar revenue law are beginning to threaten slashes in a federal deficit that already has climbed to nearly $400,000,000 since July 1.

August brought $73,940,310 into the treasury from the new levies on gasoline, electrical energy, bank checks, stock transfers and other miscellaneous sources. This was an increase of $18,253,843 over July receipts and of $11,546,170 over miscellaneous collections in August, 1931.

But treasury officials believe this yield still is short of returns which may be expected under the 1932 act. The gasoline tax paid $8,944,857 in August as compared with $5,384,461 in July; the check tax $3,364,251 as compared with $1,094,287; the automobile levy, $886,655 against $47,629; their parts and accessories, $224,241 against $42,452 and motor trucks $101,342 against $3,331.

Consider Report Of League On Inquiry

Geneva, Sept. 22 (AP).—Consideration of the report of the League Commission of Inquiry on Japanese military operations in Manchuria, the dominating problem to come before the council of the League when it meets here tomorrow, probably will be postponed until next December, it was indicated today.

The council's session, which begins three days before the opening of the 13th regular session of the League assembly, will be presided over by Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish Free State and a native of New York. The council will continue with occasional sittings during the assembly sessions and after its adjournment.

The immediate questions which the Lytton report, forecast as unfavorable to Japan, will raise are:

1. The problem of whether the council or the assembly will proceed to employ the concerted international action described in the League covenant for enforcing the League's will.
2. Whether Japan will withdraw from the League if the League takes a firm position against her military policy in Manchuria.

Denies She Stole Love Of Cohen

Hollywood, Sept. 22 (AP).—Denial who had stolen the love of Albert J. Cohen, tennis player and author's agent, was made today by Cortis Palmer, Georgia beauty. Miss Palmer was made defendant in a $100,000 alienation of affections suit filed yesterday by the man's wife, Mrs. Estelle A. Cohen.

Miss Palmer, the estranged wife of Eugene V. Brewster, former millionaire magazine publisher, said she had been a friend of Cohen but had understood him to be unmarried when she first met him. When he told her he was married, she said, he had added that his wife was contemplating a divorce. She said she ceased seeing Cohen when she learned he and his wife were living together, calling only at his office to see him on business as he was her agent.

At the time of Miss Palmer's romance with Brewster in 1926, she was involved in an alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Eleanor Brewster for $200,000. A settlement was made.

Kidnaped Woman Appeals For Help

Newburgh, Manchuia, Sept. 22 (AP).—Another poignant appeal for the rescue of herself and Charles Corkran, another British subject captured by Chinese bandits, was received from Mrs. Pawley, who said the bandits planned to shoot them in a week, after cutting off their ears. The note was received by Mrs. Pawley's father together with another exorbitant demand for ransom.

"Get us out as soon as possible," the note said. "They are going to cut off our ears and I rather want to keep mine. For God's sake be quick. We have a week to live before we are shot."

"These fellows are really serious. I am filthy and long for a bath. The food is awful."

Rotarians Heard About Single Tax

Charles H. Ingersoll, famous watchmaker, economist and speaker, entertained the members and guests of the Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel as the main speaker on the club program. His talk, entitled "The Business Depression—Its Cause and Cure" attacked the problem from a national viewpoint.

The speaker's talk was principally an argument favoring a single tax distributed on the basis of land value. Taxes should be taken from industry, business, labor, and the consumer, and placed on arial values, according to Mr. Ingersoll. If the land tax was put into effect, it would alleviate depression and unemployment, and would place the burden of taxes where it rightfully belongs.

Taxes being placed on merchandise, machinery, and industry," said the speaker, "probably doubles their cost, making prices so high that production becomes dormant, which throws millions out of employment. A simple shift of taxes from labor values to land values would take the weight from our depression and put it where labor would be given greater opportunity."

The speaker then went on to say that the present system of taxation is absurd in many ways. The way taxes are enforced at the present time on nearly every commodity nearly doubles the cost of living. This in turn cuts in half the purchasing power of people. In periods of depression and unemployment, the reformers place the blame on over production. "What really is the trouble," stated Mr. Ingersoll, "is just the opposite. We are suffering from under consumption rather than over production."

The speaker further stated that "the exemption we now give land values permitting speculators to appropriate them, puts a premium on holding valuable land idle for a rise in prices, and this is the time that both capital and labor find themselves out of jobs. A simple tax on land values would break this down, and again set the wheels of industry turning until the depression is dispelled."

After his talk, Mr. Ingersoll gave the members and guests present at the meeting an opportunity of discussing the single tax idea in an open forum.

SEES UNPLEASANT ACTION IF MILK PRICES ARE CUT

New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—G. N. Allen, secretary of the emergency committee of the New York milk shed created at a recent mass meeting in Syracuse, N. Y., today predicted the possibility of "unpleasant action" if certain dealers continued to cut prices.

"These men (farmers of the New York milk shed) are getting desperate," Allen said in a formal statement. "Personally I am not in sympathy with the methods that western farmers have been using, but I don't know how long we can keep farmers in line if dealers continue to cut prices. Farmers around the plants of such dealers are angry, and when these men go back and tell them what they have seen here there may be unpleasant action."

Allen said that a delegation of dairy farmers from various sections of the state has been investigating milk marketing conditions here during the past few days to ascertain why some dealers have failed to raise wholesale milk prices so that farmers might receive better returns for their milk. The emergency committee has established temporary headquarters in a hotel here.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT IN CALIFORNIA TODAY

Roosevelt Special, En Route to San Francisco, Sept. 22 (AP).—After writing into the record of this presidential campaign his views in a speech at Portland on the regulation and control of public utilities dealing in electricity, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today was in California, whose swing from John N. Garner assured Mr. Roosevelt's nomination at the Chicago Democratic Convention.

William Gibbs McAdoo, who announced the swing during the fourth roll call last July 1, had flown to Redding to meet the nominee and escort him through the state. McAdoo is the choice of California Democrats for the United States Senate.

Mr. Roosevelt, in the Portland address last night, the third of the four major utterances he will make on his 21-day tour of the West, outlined his views on government ownership, public utility regulation, and of President Hoover whom he designated "my distinguished opponent." He said:

"Since 1926 my distinguished opponent has done nothing to enforce the regulatory sections of the Federal Water Power Act.

"He has done nothing to block the financial operations incident to the great post-war development as planned by its promoters.

"My distinguished opponent is against giving the Federal government in any case the right to operate their own power business."

Would Establish Milk Industry As A Public Utility

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—Desirability of establishing the milk producing industry of New York state as a public utility is being considered by the joint legislative committee investigating the milk industry, it was indicated by State Senator Percy A. Fischer of Watertown, chairman of the committee's hearings here yesterday.

State control and supervision over the industry was suggested by some of the speakers before the committee.

Edward C. Stroheck, Dairyman's League director for Wayne, Ontario, Niagara, Livingston, Genesee and Westmoreland counties, after he had pointed out that the telephone and gas and electric corporations had been able to maintain uniform prices, usually at a low level, because of the lack of competition in their fields, was asked by Senator Fischer if he thought the situation would be improved if milk production were made a public utility.

"I have an opinion on that matter," replied Mr. Stroheck, "while I am willing to express it to your committee privately."

Stroheck said that there is no question that the price of milk production at present exceeds the price at which the product can be sold, and declared that one reason for the situation is the failure of the milk producers themselves to make a complete control of the supply possible.

"I hold no bitterness in my heart towards the brave soldiers of the north," he said, "but I am stoutly against the suggestion that the men of the south and the men of the north join in a grand review before the president of the United States."

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 22, 1932.

REPORTING WORKERS

A new variation of the widespread deportation game appears in one of the middle-western industrial cities. An association of apartment house owners wants to send large numbers of colored residents back to the South where they came from. It argues that the city will be better off without them because they are lowering property values and, being mostly unemployed, they have become an expensive charge upon the community.

LEGION AT CROSSROADS

Sam W. Reynolds, a leader in the Nebraska department of the American Legion, and for a while a candidate for national commander, sacrificed his ambitions in that line and subjected himself to the boos and cat-calls of fellow veterans at the Portland convention to speak the truth as he saw it. He said:

The American Legion is at the crossroads today. The cost of veterans' legislation has reached a point where 25 per cent of federal expenditures go for this purpose. We are under fire from criticism not alone from organizations, but from taxpayers all over the United States. Unless this storm is halted the day is not far distant when men will be elected to office on the slogan "stop the veterans".

DIRECTORS WHO DIRECT

A question raised by revelations following such gigantic financial crashes as those of Ivar Kreuger and the Insull corporations concerns the part played by supposedly competent directors and banks in the frenzied finance that led to the collapse. It is said that Mr. Insull's financial operations were so intricate that the skillful auditors now investigating them are almost bewildered in their efforts to understand what was done. Directors should have questioned these operations long before the companies got to the tipping point.

lines and deposits in banks. If they are wise and have learned any of the many lessons taught by major depression catastrophes, will demand that directors hereafter direct and that bankers keep to their role of trustees of deposited funds.

EXECUTIVE REORGANIZATION

It is well that reorganization of the executive branch of the government is about to get under way. It has been discussed and recommended and promised and hoped for and forgotten too many years. President Hoover has recently instructed the director of the budget to undertake a series of investigations to determine where reorganization is needed and to help prepare a program for it. All this is done under authority granted in the national economy bill.

THE FLYING START

When we were youngsters and one boy could run faster than another, it was customary in order to make a race more even to give the slower boy what was called "a flying start". This meant that the slower boy went back about 20 yards and thus was at full speed when he reached the starting point, when the faster runner made his start. This meant that the slower runner got a considerable lead over the faster runner before the latter got into his stride.

NEW PALTS

New Palts, Sept. 22 — Mrs. Matthews of Milton visited relatives in town this week.

Vandenberg, principal; Lord's Prayer; "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms," Assembly; short welcoming address and instructions for student body, Dr. Vandenberg; announcements. # Nothing Venture

SYNOPSIS: "I must have been a nasty girl for you. Pretty good team work—wasn't it?"

Chapter 25

VEILED THREATS

THE path under the rhododendrons was cool and dark; a faint breath of damp rose up from between the twisted stems. There was water not very far away. Jervis walked beside Rosamund Carew, but he didn't look at her; he looked into the green gloom ahead of them.

"I've got a lot of things to say," she declared.

"Won't she let you speak to me?" Poor old Jervis! There was a light drawing contempt in her voice. Jervis smiled, that sudden, dangerous smile of his.

FORMED CHURCH ON SUNDAY

The local church department was called out on Tuesday evening about 6:30 to a fire near Plutarch. A house and barn were destroyed.

On Monday, September 12, the regular meeting of the American Legion Ladies' Auxiliary was held. Mrs. Parker gave a report of the third district conference in Kingston and of the state convention which was held at Brooklyn.

The American History classes in the high school have chosen the "American Observer" as their bulletin. Miss Gertrude Nichols of Eltinge avenue and teacher of nature of the Normal School returned last week from her western trip.

The practice school opened on Monday morning, September 19, in the new building.

The Rev. Garrett G. Wallackinger and family have returned from their vacation. The Rev. Mr. Wallackinger, of the Kingston Episcopal Church, is attending the New Palts Normal School.

The local church department was called out on Tuesday evening about 6:30 to a fire near Plutarch. A house and barn were destroyed.

"SPACE BETWEEN A AND AND AND AND AND B."

This is a grammatically correct sentence.

The Chinese, masters of the art of lacquerware, use a mixture of pig's blood and putty for one of the many coats applied to lacquerware in the making. The mixture acts as a filler, and becoming very hard when dry. The finest of lacquerware is given a coat of powdered tile and raw lacquer for a filler.

Although the names of many great pitchers have flashed across the pages of baseball history, it remained for Howard Ehmke, in the only world series game he ever pitched, to top the list in the number of strikeouts.

The use of "and" five successive times in a nine-word sentence can be correct, as for instance, in instructing a sign painter to spread out "A and B" one might say: "Space between A and and and and and and B."

Rare Types of Mammals

in Smithsonian Exhibit

Many kinds of mammals as yet unknown to science may be hiding away in obscure corners of the earth. They lurk in the spots inhabited by man-made jungles, high mountains, isolated islands, or in burrows under the ground. Only when they come into collection do they attract the attention of systematic biologists. Several new types of mammals have been placed in the collection of the Smithsonian Institution. In most cases they are close relatives of known animals, yet differing sufficiently to merit independent classification. One of the most striking new discoveries is a black ape described by Gerrit S. Miller, Jr., Smithsonian curator of mammals. It was discovered in a collection from the island of Celebes. While it belongs to the baboon family it is a smaller relative of the big Celebes ape that we commonly see in the zoo. Another new creature is a hitherto unknown type of vole, a tiny rattlesnake, which lives mostly in burrows where the timber line has high up in the Redoubt mountains of Alaska. Still others are two new members of the cat family—"long-tailed tiger cat," closely related to the Central American cat, from Mexico, a new cat from Trinidad valley, lower California, and an unknown variety of the Putorius from the Colorado Islands.

SCIENTISTS SEEK LOST MAYAN CITYPlan Long Trip Through the Jungles of Yucatan.

Los Angeles.—Lured by a hope of locating a mysterious city of the ancient Mayan empire, a party of six scientists will leave New York on a 1,200-mile trip through the jungles of Yucatan and Central America.

Lawrence T. K. Grissold, former Harvard archaeology student, who, at thirty-one, already has spent 10 years in research among the mountain fastnesses of Peru and Bolivia, and the marshy terrain of Central America, leads the expedition.

The expedition also will seek to record the life and dialects of five vanishing tribes, the descendants of the Maya's subjects a hundred years ago.

Grissold is one of the few men who can read the mystic picture writing of the Mayas. He clings to a theory that the Mayas were of Asian, not Indian, origin; that they were tall, blue-eyed and perhaps bearded people, who crossed the Atlantic centuries ago. He believes that, with the labor supplied by a million enslaved native subjects, they erected the most elaborate civilization the new world had known until the coming of the Europeans in the Fifteenth century A. D.

Grissold said on a previous expedition to this area he sighted the lost city from an airplane, but the dense foliage made it impossible to land. It was distinguished by a huge palace, which he believes contains valuable records of the civilization he seeks to reveal.

In addition to Grissold, the personnel of the expedition will include Robert Penrose Chapman, son of the late Samuel Hudson Chapman, noted archaeologist, who will be photographic director. Glen R. Kerchner, veteran Hollywood cinematographer and member of the Donald McMillan polar expedition last year, will accompany the group to record the dances and languages of the native clans in sound films.

The California group will be joined in New York by five additional members.

Exchange of Sons for Education Is Success

Berkeley, Calif.—Six years ago an American and an Austrian family exchanged sons so that their boys might learn something of the customs of other peoples.

Today, the American boy, now a full-fledged doctor, had returned home, enthusiastic at the success of the experiment.

When Franklin E. Bissell, now twenty-four, went to Vienna at eighteen, he had aspirations to become an engineer. He returned home a graduate in medicine, prepared to follow in the footsteps of his father, Dr. Frank S. Bissell, and also those of his foster parent, Dr. Arthur Schuller, head of the Franz Josef Clinic for nervous diseases at Vienna.

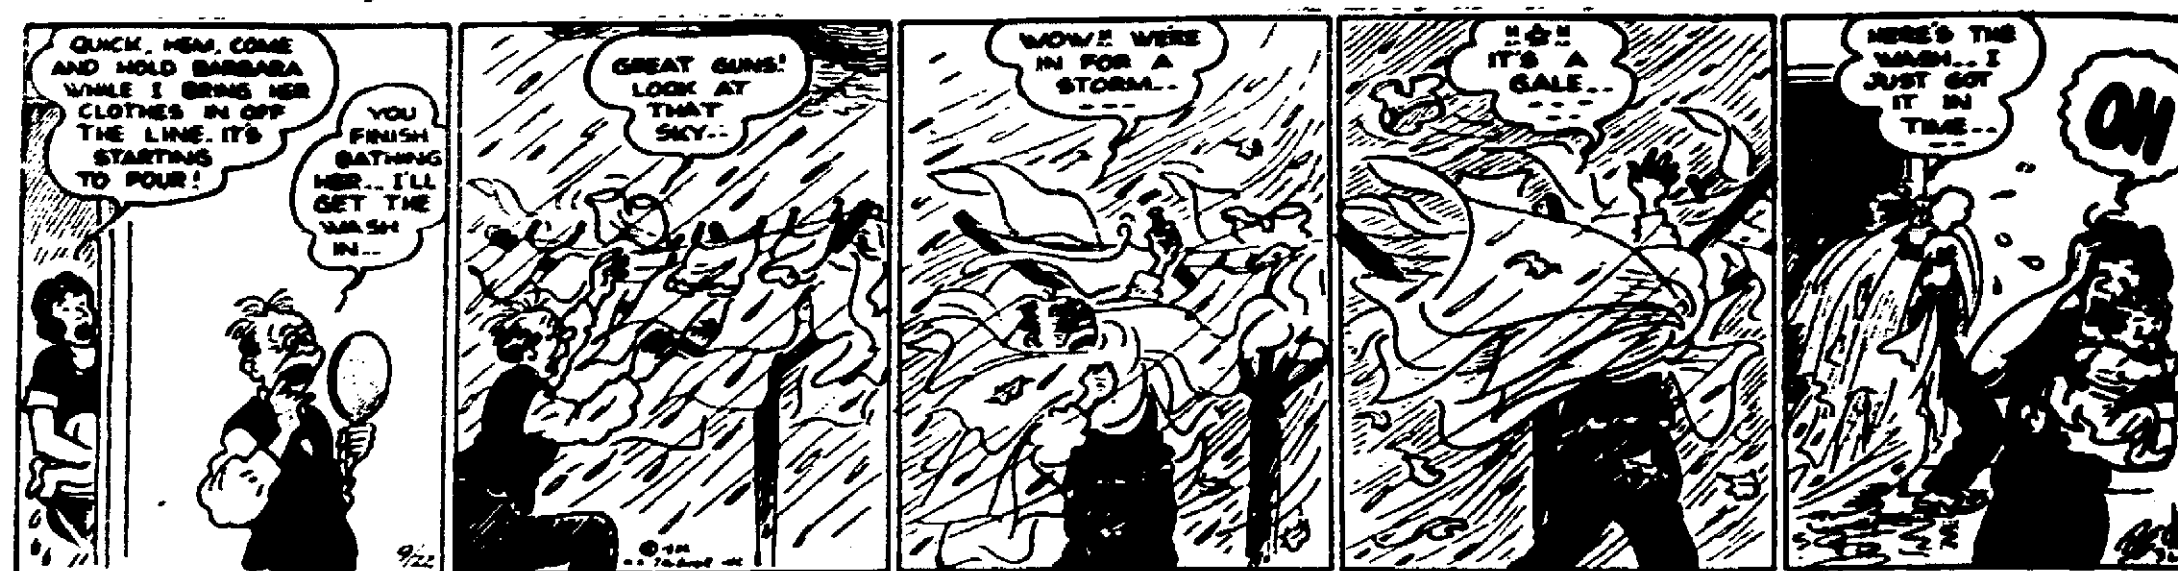

Franz Schuller, who also was eighteen when the exchange of sons was arranged by their parents, spent his time in America studying factory management. He now is associated with an uncle in a Prague (Czechoslovakia) factory.

Parents of the young men met six years ago while Doctor Schuller was on a lecture tour of this country. At the Bissell home, Doctor Schuller found a boy of the same age as his own and the idea was born.

Free Movie Incentive for Children's Industry

Waterloo, N. Y.—Waterloo children did more than their share toward riding back yards, alleys and vacant lots of unsightly tin cans during this year's clean-up week campaign. The cause of this unusual display of industry by the children was an announcement by the local theater of a special performance for children. The admission was to be ten tin cans fastened together.

GAS BUGGIES—The Maid's Boy Co.

The 1932 Version
Sing a song of hard times,
Pockets full of air.
Countless politicians
Promising for fair;
When election's over
We retain our ill.
And the plodding public
Is left to pay the bill.
Which proves that another thing
This country needs is bigger and better economy progress.

Stew (on train)—Thish is a great railroad. Shay, where you going?
Passenger—To Los Angeles.
Stew—Gosh, thish ish a great road! Here you're going to Los Angeles and I'm going to New York—on the same train.

A man was walking along a certain Iowa road when he noticed a fairly good hat out in the muddy rut. He reached out with his cane and gave it a sharp cut, and was dumfounded to hear a voice under the hat exclaim:

Voice Under Hat—Hey there. What the heck are you trying to do? Wasn't then that the man walking along the road made the alarming discovery that the owner of the hat was up to his ears in mud.
The Man—Is the mud that deep over there?
Voice Under Hat—Deep? Why man alive, I'm standing on a load of hay.

Asked by his sweetie if he loved her still, a youth replied: "I really don't know. I never saw you still."

And then there's the girl who is so dumb that she thinks she gets water on the knee from wearing pamps.

Mother—Harry, where have you been?
Harry—With Robert.
Mother—Robert, where have you been?

Robert—With Harry.
Mother (exasperated)—Well, where have you both been?
Harry and Robert—Together.

Caller—What do you do with your clothes when you wear them out?
Man—Wear them home again, naturally.

Farmer Farmer—This horse of mine acts normal sometimes and lame at other times. What shall I do about him?
Former Farmer—Waal, I reckon the next time he appears normal, you better sell him.

Saving is a simple matter. You just buckle down and make money faster than your family can spend it.

Young Man (trifle "merry" approaching a girl at a dance)—Can I have this dance?
The Girl—Certainly, if you can find a partner.

The fellow who always has an alibi for every mistake he makes is continually weakening his stand among those who hear him.

Gertrude—How did you come to be discharged from the Army?
William—Well, when the enemy was coming toward us, our Captain yelled, "Shoot at will!" and not knowing which one to shoot at I asked the Captain, "Which one is will?"

The Latest Caledonian Joke: The talk was of race horses, and one of the party, a much travelled racing man, was asked what was the closest race he had ever seen. He answered: "The Scotch!"

Removing Uncle Sam's tonsils might hasten his comeback.

Prohibition.
A weary Soul.
A thirsty Night.
The room was smelling cheezy.
Gave his order.
With an (old day's) shout.
When someone said,
SPEAK EASY.

WOMAN, 100, CALLS DOCTOR BUT ONCE IN HER LIFE

Lincolnton, N. C. (A)—Mrs. Susan Abernethy celebrated her 100th birthday here and recalled the days when she was a chum of Mrs. "Stonewall" Jackson.

She says the world is just as good, if not better than in olden days; that she enjoys her clay pipe and thinks automobiles and paved roads are "wonderful."

Only once in her life has Mrs. Abernethy been visited by a physician. That was four years ago when she had measles, and even then she returned to go to bed.

ATLANTA GASOLINE "WELL"
PROVES ONLY A LEAK

Atlanta (A)—Dreams of riches filled the minds of half a dozen Atlanta boys, who found a flowing "oil well" in the midst of a north side residential section here.

Pure gasoline flowed freely—chemists analyzed it—and these youngsters immediately profited from their find by using the fluid in their "rattlerap" automobiles they had salvaged from junk heaps, principally.

News of the discovery of oil spread and older heads began an investigation. A filling station operator solved the mystery—1,500 gallons of gasoline had seeped from one of his underground tanks, and saturated the hard clay subsoil below. He estimates the boys' "wells" will flow for several weeks longer.

Up in a Ferris wheel, down on a slide! Spies about, "See the wonders inside!" Sights that are weepy and sights that are laughy! Cooney is that (plus some salt water taffy.)

Twin Tips

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

CONNIE pulled on her sensible tie and the hat and glanced down to see that her new needed washing shoes were clean, and today, put her check book in her bag with a little flutter of the heart and started off to inspect a small farm in New Jersey that had been advertised in the morning paper.

And in a taxi cab, at the opposite side of the city, a sturdy, well-set-up man, cast a swift look at himself in the mirror to see that his tie was straight, felt in his inner pocket to make sure his check book was safely placed and went out with a slight feeling of caution. He was going to New Jersey to inspect a small chicken farm that had been advertised in the morning paper.

And these two from the opposite ends of the city caught the same ferry boat across the Hudson, boarded the same train for the suburban village on the outskirts of which lay the farm and arrived at the local station at the same time.

As a matter of fact there was only one short taxi beside the wooden platform, and both Connie and John McGuire went swiftly toward it.

"I want to go to Orchard farm," said Connie and looked up and into the steady eyes of the man whose words almost echoed her own.

The taxi driver scratched his head. It was McGuire who sensibly settled the question. "I'll sit outside with the driver if you don't mind—since our destination is the same."

Each hoped the check book, so joyously brought on this trip, would be sufficiently indicative of wealth to allow the purchasing of Orchard farm—should it prove the ideal spot.

"Oh," exclaimed Connie to herself as the taxi stopped. "What a heavenly place!"

"Ideal" was McGuire's inward comment, "but a bit far from the station. I'd have to motor everything in." And by "everything" McGuire referred to the hundreds of dozens of eggs and chickens he hoped to be producing for the city restaurant.

"I suppose you want me to wait," said the taxi driver.

The situation was certainly funny but somehow Connie and McGuire took it all very calmly and entered the old farmhouse and asked the price.

Connie's face fell and so did McGuire's when they heard that price. Five thousand dollars was more than either had bargained for. Each had saved three thousand five hundred dollars.

"I wanted to raise poultry and make butter and jams to sell to the ten-room where I work," lamented Connie. "I have it all fixed up with the owner—she will buy all I can supply."

"And I had fixed up with my boss," confessed McGuire, and tried not to show his keen disappointment.

"I'm so fed up with carrying trays of food to people that I don't see how I can go through with it," moaned Connie, "and this farm is simply the place I've had in my dreams for years. Some one else will surely get it before I save enough to make up the difference."

"You've said it," groaned McGuire. "I've gone to bed nights just planning a place like this and thinking of getting up at dawn while the dew's on everything and the sun coming up behind that hill and feeding the chickens and the cows and lighting the kitchen fire. Instead of that I mean carrying dinners to business men for another year or two."

They both agreed and sighed heavily as they emerged from the house after giving the caretaker a tip for showing them all over the small farm.

"If you don't mind I'll sit inside on the way back," said McGuire, "perhaps we can cheer each other up a bit."

And inside the taxi there was a tremendous amount of conversation going on. The two farm seekers had become very intimate regarding their financial status.

"If we could just have pooled it," laughed Connie, "it would have been easy, and we'd still have two thousand dollars to buy stock and carry us along until things got going properly."

McGuire turned and looked very steadily into Connie's honest eyes and had a brainstorm.

"How would you like to pool in with me? I'll buy the farm, start it going and get everything in line shape in a month and maybe—maybe—" McGuire hesitated a bit and Connie's eyes fluttered downward, "we might sort of get better acquainted and—well, you never can tell, we might—"

Connie laughed softly because he was getting so mixed up with a problem that was as plain as the nose on Kathleen's face.

"Don't be silly," she said laughingly. "I don't think there's any 'might' about it. I liked you the very minute you were so thoughtful about sitting outside on this taxi."

"And I liked you the minute you let me come along—it almost looks like what folks call 'love at first sight.' My name is John McGuire," he added, "what's yours?"

"Connie—Connie Weldon."

"I say—Connie—shall we tell this driver to take us back, so we can put down a deposit for—our farm, and what do you say to calling it Twin Tips Farm?"

"Fine," said Connie, and McGuire called out to the driver.

TRICKS OF MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will L. Lindhorst

MIND-READING TRICK WITH PAPER

PLACE HAND IN WHICH PAPER IS HELD AGAINST YOUR FOREHEAD AND PRETEND TO CONCENTRATE ON THE QUESTION WRITTEN ON THE PAPER.

Cut several pieces of paper, about two inches square, hand a piece to each person in your audience and tell them to write a question. Then instruct that the squares of paper be crumpled and dropped into a hat which you pass. When two or three persons have dropped their questions into the hat you take one, conceal it in your hand, and on some pretext, ask to be excused from the room. When out of sight open the paper and memorize the question on it and rejoin your audience. Gather up the remainder of the questions, place the hat upon a table in front of you and announce: you will answer each question without seeing or knowing of the question beforehand.

Place your hands, in which the first question is concealed, into the hat, and as you do this, hide the paper under the band inside the hat. Then bring forth another, which appears to be the first to your audience, and place your hand in which the paper is held against your forehead, pretending to concentrate on the question inside the crumpled paper. Instead of answering the question, which, of course, you do not know, give the answer to the previous one which you have memorized. Then open the paper, pretend to read the question written upon it, but instead say aloud the previous question, the answer to which you have just given. Crumple the paper, toss it aside, and reach into the hat for another. Repeat the process with this and each succeeding question, pretending to give the answer to it, but instead giving the answer to the preceding one. When the hat is empty take the one hidden under the hat band, pretend to read it, but instead say aloud the one that came before.

BANDIT MAKES MISTAKE; HOLDS UP POLICEMAN

St. Louis (AP)—A bandit operating in Forest Park after nightfall picked a parked car occupied by the wrong couple. The man was a member of the St. Louis metropolitan police, off duty.

Seizing his service revolver, which officers are required to carry at all times, he gave chase to the fleeing robber, who was captured after a pistol duel along a main thoroughfare.

The Mississippi river system supplied about 45,000,000 pounds of edible protein food, consisting mainly of buffalo fish, carp, catfish, and sheepshead, in 1931.

At The Theatres

Kingdom: "Jewel Robbery." William Powell and Kay Francis together again, this time in a sophisticated tale of a clever jewel thief who is as good a lover as a crook. This show has a number of intense dramatic moments, and some fine dialogue.

Orpheum: "Westward Passage" and "Radio Patrol." The first is a story of a divorced couple who meet on board a liner after not seeing each other for several years. Both are married to someone else. Well acted entertainment with Ann Harding and Laurence Oliver. "Radio Patrol" is a police thriller with gun fights, and a surprise ending. Robert Armstrong, Lila Lee, and June Clyde are in the cast.

Broadway: "Doctor X." Technicolor adds to the effectiveness of this mystery thriller, and this show is so well acted and the plot is so creepy that everybody will find enough thrills to satisfy them before the show is ended. It's the story of a certain doctor who spends his time seeking to uncover among his friends and students a certain stranger who has been murdering people. Lionel Atwill is splendid as Doctor X, and Lee Tracy, Fay Wray and Robert Warwick all help make this a thrill.

Tomorrow:

Kingdom: Same.
Orpheum: "The Brown of Culver" and "The Third Alarm." Tom Brown, Slim Summerville, Richard Cromwell and H. R. Warner are the featured players in this story of the making of men at one of the country's largest military schools. It is good, clean entertainment from start to finish, with humorous thrills and comedy. "Third Alarm" is another tribute to the fireman, with James Hall, Anita Louise, Hobart Bosworth and Jean Harlow in the cast.
Broadway: Same.

Ball Games in History

Football as a game was the subject of stern repressive laws as far back as the time of the Black Prince—aye, and even earlier, in the days of which Homer wrote. The people of Israel are far back as the year 750 B. C. played a game with a ball to be thrown, kicked or otherwise propelled by players, as witness the twenty-second chapter of Isaiah, in which the prophet said: "He will turn and toss thee like a ball." That this game of ball was brought by the children of Israel from the land of Egypt is indicated by inscriptions carried on monuments beside the Nile. And this written word of Isaiah takes the beginning of the game back about 3,000 years ago.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Braid in The First Rank of Trimmings

New York—Black and white may sound like an old, old story but it is recurrent in early autumn showings—and looks anything but old. One of the newest versions of it is white braid on black. An arrangement as old is entitled to be regarded as new. Just another one of those Victorian moods in which fashion persists in indulging.

Another variation of the black and white theme is white and black, as for instance a white crinkled velvet evening dress bordered with black fox. Another example is a rough white crepe dress shown with a short black caracul jacket. The shops seem inclined to play up black with white rather more than is usual for autumn. White fur is used tellingly on black, velvet especially.

It also appears as though Jean Patou had done very well by himself when he hit on the idea of reviving the lowered waistline. It is so much easier for the average woman to wear than either the normal or high belt that it seemed destined to success from the start in spite of a good deal of adverse criticism of him for daring to be so revolutionary at a time when it seemed wiser to follow the beaten path. Patou has also scored with his medieval browns as well as this Modern Age silhouette. It is important to remember that whether high or lowly belted, the bodice is fitted and accents the bust.

Sleeves are going in for living their own lives and expressing themselves in any and every way they see fit. By a tacit agreement they all avoid being commonplace. Embroidered cuffs, cuffs here and there and tucking, shirring and crinkled forearms are to be seen on parade or under glass. Many sleeves find two materials necessary to complete them and we have, among other practical ideas, the detachable sleeve, contrasting or not as one wills. Guimp is far from being an obsolete term in fashion. After a longer absence than anything so practical might be expected to have the season's styles make quite a point of reinstating the guimp.

The Woolen Shirtwaist Dress Arrives

New York—The fall fabrics have so changed the one-piece shirtwaist dress that it is almost as if a new type were being introduced instead of last summer's favorite in another guise. Yet the simplicity that is so much the hue and cry of the sports-wear is still there, making the fall shirtwaist dress stand out as one of the few very informal active sport dress to be found.

White Braid on Black

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild.

This frock, in black crepe, has a detachable cape collar that also gives the drop-shoulder line, and it is cleverly treated with the white braid which also makes the rolled collar. The rolled line is repeated at the elbows.

Effective Ribbon Details for Fall Frocks

At the left are sketched some suggestions for using ribbons as effective details of fall frocks. Note that the ribbons are vital in the designs of the dresses themselves. Ribbons which give the effect of being simply splashed on a frock are definitely "out" of the fashion picture; ribbon when employed must be vital to the style of the frock itself.

Reading down from the top: Plaid taffeta ribbon is crushed on a firm foundation, making an effective belt for a wool street frock.

Baroque grosgrain ribbon may be inserted in the bodice of a broadcloth or a dull crepe frock to give an effective wide-shouldered appearance.

White velvet, satin, grosgrain, sharkskin, or other novelty type of white ribbon may be used for a simulated scarf finish on a high-necked street frock.

Double-faced white satin ribbon is adaptable to a style of neckwear which is popular this season.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

An extremely attractive blouse introduces the princess line in blouses. The blouse is made beltless, and of hip length, with horizontal lines in curves, through bust and waistline, to provide shaping. The full length buttoned back adds to its distinction.

Tied-at-the-back treatments are highlighted in dinner and evening dresses, belts developing from the sides of the frock and tying at the back, giving a molded line at the front.

Fur is a leader in trimmings, both for daytime and dinner dresses, and beads and sequins are approved for evening gowns, used in borders and to decorate sleeves.

WATCH FOR GLEAM IN FALL FASHIONS

Metal Shines Forth in Most Unexpected Places.

Watch for the gleam of silver, nickel and gunmetal in fashions for fall. You'll see them in all sorts of unexpected places. Fashion is surely "on its metal" these days, and matches up jewelry to belt buckles, hat pins and buttons.

Nickel and the darker gunmetal are preferred to gold at the moment. Buttons of many of the new wool and crepe frocks button right up the front to the new high neckline, and there's a fancy for using flat round buttons of shiny nickel, if the dress be informal.

Strapping buckles on the belts of sports dresses often combine wood with metal, and the same combination may appear in several sports bracelets. The all-metal belt, which was the height of style some twenty years ago, is back again in vogue, some made of naked metal baquettes, others of smooth flexible metal in gunmetal tone.

Double pins are a novelty in metal and these are sometimes used in pairs—one thrust through the cravat scarf of a wool dress, the other used to hold a fold of the matching beret turban. Used in this way they give much distinction to an informal outfit.

WITH PLAID GUIMPE
By CHERRY NICHOLAS

Most outstanding on fashion's program for fall is the guimpe frock. Designers are featuring it in every possible way for the very young as well as for those not so young. It is sponsored not for daytime wear, but the idea is tuned to formal evening gowns as well. The model pictured is very desirable for office or school wear. It plays up the voguish idea of plaid silk in combination with sheer woolen for daytime hours. The frock is of dark green wool and the plaid has a responding green as its dominate color, with bright yellow and red intermingled. With this distinctly youthful frock this attractive member of the smart set wears distinctly youthful patent leather and suede shoes. In fact they are designed especially for the girl of from twelve to seventeen. The shoe fastens at the side with buttons, has a strapped throat with patent flap topping the upper strap.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Newest "lines" stress tunic silhouettes.

Stone and metal studded belts enhance fall costumes.

Color, maple and mist gray register among chic colors.

Over-the-head capes of silk or velvet are edged with fur.

Many jet and diamond buttons adorn the autumn and winter modes.

Contrasting sleeves either in color or of material style the latest frocks.

Chic Parisiennes are wearing gloves made of velvet to match their dresses.

Princess lines with wide shoulders and huge sleeves give a new aspect to the mode.

Pinafore, Apron Frocks

Are Proving Practical

Pinafore and apron dresses are proving practical for laundering and easy to get into. The pinafore type is open down the back, the arms being slipped through the short sleeves and a few buttons fastened in the back. The apron dress is made of two sections, one tying over the other. Both can be opened up flat for ironing.

New Turbans

Ivory flowers, metal feathers, even Spanish combs are used to trim some of the smartest turbans.

Yearly Celebration

September is the last day of the year. On that day in northern England and Scotland children go about singing, being rewarded with sweets, usually candy. The word is also applied to the entertainment of visitors or gifts made to applicants.

Triangles Entertain Monfri Players

The Kingston Triangles entertained the Monfri players at a game played at the stadium Tuesday evening. The game was a close one, with the Triangles winning by a score of 10 to 9.

After the game a delicious dinner was served to the players and the Triangles. The dinner was served in the dining room of the hotel where the players were staying.

Warren P. Smith, who is in charge of the Triangles, said that the team was very pleased with the results of the game.

The Triangles are now in the lead of the league. They have won four of their last five games. The Monfri players are also doing well. They have won three of their last four games.

The trophies awarded to the winning team were donated by Sweeney & Schonger. The trophies were presented to the players by the managers of the teams.

The New York Telephone Co. and the Dairyman's League teams were well represented and while they were not on the winning side showed the best of sportsmanship in heartily congratulating the winners.

Chairman Smith then introduced one of the best known players and participants of baseball in Kingston today, Judge Bernard A. "Bud" Culliton, as the guest speaker. The fellows certainly did enjoy the judge's address which was well filled with baseball from start to finish and especially enjoyed the speaker's recital of his experiences while with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

How Yankee And Cub Outfields Compare For World Series

By ALAN GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, Sept. 22 (AP)—Unless the leading experts of the strategic value of the home run, Babe Ruth is in much improved health a week before the Yankees likely will not show any advantage over the Chicago Cubs as far as the cleanup blows of their outfields are concerned in the forthcoming battle for the baseball championship of the world.

If it were the Yankees, on paper, show a heavier punch, but this is offset by the fact that Ruth has to contend with a "tummy ache" than all the rest of the outfields combined.

If the Cubs are not there next week doing something besides roaring his defiance to the enemy, on whom they, the Cubs, may pluck up sufficient courage forthwith to chase the Yankees all over Colonel Ruppert's expensive premises in the Bronx, to say nothing of what may happen when the Bruins have their hometown cheers to spur them on.

The only real difference between the two outfield groups is represented by the batting averages of Ruth and Kiki Cuyler, who patrols right field for the Cubs. The unofficial season figures are .348 for Ruth and only .286 for Cuyler, but that doesn't tell the real story.

Where Ruth has been laid up and lost considerable of his much-needed strength, Cuyler has come down the home stretch like a forest fire fanned by a gale. The fleet Kiki has been producing the big cleanup wallop when the Bruins needed it. He had such a poor start over the first two or three months of the season that his present average does not disclose he has been hitting well over .300 for the last six weeks.

Taking these facts into consideration, plus Cuyler's far superior defensive skill and base-running ability, the Cubs figure to concede little or nothing to their American League rivals in the outfield.

KIKI CUYLER

The veteran Riggs Stephenson is a much more dangerous, consistent hitter than Ben Chapman, the Yankees' leftfielder, who will menace the opposition most when he can do his speed stuff on the bases.

The Kentucky colonel, Earle Combs, has the hitting edge on his youthful centerfield rival, John Francis Moore of the Cubs, but here again speed and defensive ability is a factor in favor of the younger player.

Each club thus has two world series veterans and one newcomer for the big battle. Chapman and Moore will have their first taste of world series action. In reserve, the Yankees have the long-hitting Sam Byrd and Myril Hoag. The Cubs have Marvin Gudat, a useful portside hitter, and Frank Demaree, youngster brought up late this season from Sacramento.

Here are the comparative batting records of the outfields:

Chicago Cubs

Stephenson . . . 144 874 86 187 .324
Moore . . . 115 427 58 120 .306
Cuyler . . . 105 427 55 125 .286

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

"One of these days Bernie Bierman is going to corral Fritz Crisler and make him pay for the way Fritz stirred up Minnesota football fame with the grand flourish that preceded his departure for Princeton," writes our eagle-eyed scout, Jay Vessels, who adds:

"Fritz got so much out of a mediocre club in 1931 that Bernie, coming back home from his successful stay at Tulane, and everybody winning the Big Ten title in advance as well as licking Nebraska and some others on the side."

"What seems to Bierman to be nothing short of insane enthusiasm even gets into the papers and it all makes Bernie mighty sore."

"Perhaps Bierman, as a former Big Ten player, knows what it is to stack up in one season against the three teams that tied for the title the previous year, in addition to battling two other tough conference outfits."

"Here is what Bernie faces in his first season as Gopher head man: South Dakota State, Purdue, Nebraska, Iowa, Northwestern, Mississippi, Wisconsin and Michigan."

"Why, I would be scared just to play Northwestern, Wisconsin and Michigan alone," exclaimed Bierman. "On top of that I get Nebraska, Purdue and Iowa."

"He just wouldn't be consoled with reminders of such fine prospects as Fullback Manders, Tackle Wells, End Robinson and Quarterback Hans."

Fritz Crisler had better give Bernie a wide berth until after the 1932 football season has been ended and forgotten."

Big Job For Crusaders

Captain John McEwan emerged from Gloucester where he gave considerable study to the effect of the eclipse on barnyard life, in get the pinkies rolling at the College of the Holy Cross.

The rugged captain, who has covered a lot of gridiron territory since he was All-America center at West Point, thinks the Crusaders will give an exceptionally good account of themselves this year. He feels that he now has had enough time to establish his system at Worcester and that this year's seasoned material will respond to its opportunities.

"We may not win them all this season because we will be up against some pretty tough opposition, much of it on the rise," said McEwan. "We have Rutgers, Manhattan, Detroit, Brown, Harvard and Boston college to contend with and all of them will 'bear down' against us."

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Among the unsung heroes of the closing baseball campaign is Manager Lew Fonseca, of the Chicago White Sox, who have not fared so well as their illustrious neighbors from the other side of town.

Fonseca, in his first full season as pilot of a big league club, not only has been forced to struggle along with a chronic loser, but probably has had the biggest turnover of talent since the game began. Unless he used a card index system, he must have experienced many a difficult moment trying to remember what players were on hand at any given time.

Of pitchers alone, the records disclose, a total of twenty-five have graced the Sox line-up since the season opened. The average for the other clubs in the major leagues was around thirteen. Singers, first and last, giving an idea of Fonseca's problems. The figures prove, however, that the Sox owners have been going out and getting them in an effort to build up their fences.

Two veterans of the Sox staff, Milt Gaston and Paul Gregory, turned in sparkling work yesterday in beating Detroit twice, 11 to 3 and 3 to 1.

"Red" Kress was the hitting star of the double victory, cracking a home run, four doubles and a pair of singles.

Babe Ruth returned to the Yankees' line-up, still slightly wobbly from his illness, but the league champions were given an 8 to 4 drubbing by the ex-champion Athletics. "Red" Ruffing, regarded as the logical choice to face the Cubs in the first game of the World Series, was pounded for 16 hits, including Jimmie Fox's 5th home run. The Babe got a single in four trips.

Washington took both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Red Sox, 1 to 0 and 3 to 2, the first game in 10 innings. The double win clinched third place in the American League for the Senators, as Cleveland was dropping a 4 to 3 decision to Walter Stewart of the St. Louis Browns.

The New York Giants continued their great stretch drive in the National League by sliding the Boston Braves, 2 to 1, in a 10 inning duel between Carl Hubbell and Tom Zachary. Zachary passed Ott for force across the winning run in the tenth.

Pittsburgh saved up second place by defeating the champion Cubs, 9 to 6. Paul Warner chasing his 58th double and coming within one of the league record. Dizzy Dean pitched his 17th victory as the Cardinals shut out the Reds, 2 to 0. The rookie yielded only five hits, Brooklyn and the Phillies were idle.

American Sea Horse

Strictly a salt-water creature, the sea horse is found all along the Atlantic coast from Massachusetts to South Carolina, and although our variety seldom exceed seven inches in length, those from the Pacific shores of Mexico grow over a foot long. When you happen to come across them, you find them swimming in the most odd way.

They are driven, and if you reach down into their water, they crawl all over your arm like little ants.—Burr Linn.

City League Game Tonight

The league-leading First Butchers and the Tablet Bombers are slated to furnish the entertainment for the City League game at the Athletic field this evening.

The Butchers by winning can clinch the honors for the second half, while a defeat will toss them into a deadlock with the Schryver Lumbermen. If the Butchers should win they will play the Knights of Columbus, winners of the first half, in the first of a three-game series Saturday afternoon at the Athletic field.

In tonight's tilt Van Buren will do the pitching for the Butchers with Robin the receiver. Phil Peters and Tommasini will form the Bombers' battery.

Minuteman There

The Glanville There is the hawthorn tree which sprang from the spot on Weymouth hill, at Glanville, in England, where Joseph of Arimathea set his pilgrim's staff while on his mission to convert Britain. As the result of its holy origin, this hawthorn blossomed miraculously at Christmas, the natural blossoming season of the hawthorn being in May and June. During the Cromwellian civil war the tree was destroyed by a fanatic Puritan, but grafts from it were saved, replanted and persist in their miraculous Christmas blossoming in defiance of botanical laws. A stone now marks the spot of the original tree.

Army Eleven Shows Promise As First Game Approaches

West Point, New York, Sept. 22.—With the opening game of the Army football season with Furman University from Greenville, S. C., on October 1, rapidly approaching, more time is now being spent on the development of plays and in strengthening defensive play. Candidates for the vacant positions in the end line are receiving special attention as "Milt" Sommerhoff is the only regular available from last year's team. Players competing for the vacant spots who show greatest promise include Armstrong, guard, end, tackle, and Jahonsky, guard.

Major Sams is conducting full speed scrimmage with drills in line blocking and blocking being held daily. As practically all of the A squad players were either scrubs or reserves last season, they are familiar with the Army system. Only five men on the squad of 35 players came up from the plebe team.

In the backfield Sams is experimenting with three combinations. "Tom" Brown and "Tom" Kilday, both regulars last season and letter men, with "Ken" Fields and Joe Mac William appear to be the strongest group to date. Another set of ball carriers include Johnson and Herb, who gained considerable experience in the 1931 campaign, with Joe Stanbrook and "Buck" Buckler from last year's plebe team. A third combination consists of Frenzel, who was out with a bad shoulder all last season, "Cowboy" Elliott, reserve quarterback, "Pick" Vidal, brother of the famous Gene and "Bob" Cyr.

In the scrimmage against the Furman triple threat man. His accurate bullet-like passes have been responsible for most of the gains made by the varsity while his running has been difficult to stop. Fields' punting has also been a constant threat.

Among the new men on the squad is "Curley" Edwards, a candidate for left end. Under his feet, Edwards has shown considerable speed and aggressiveness but lacks experience in defensive play. "Jack" Buckler at right halfback also shows great promise and with the experience of a few games is expected to develop into first string material.

Grand Slam Series!

THE STORY OF BABE RUTH, RECORD WRECKER

This is the last of ten stories relating the previous world's series, the story of the one and only Babe Ruth. Showing the end of his career, the Babe this year will make his tenth and perhaps final appearance in the classic.

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Sept. 22 (P).—The Yankee stadium is packed with thrilled humanity, 50,000 of the faithful, absorbing the thrills of the opening ceremonies, yelling, cheering, restless for the start of the 1932 world's series, the Yankees versus the Cubs.

Perhaps it will be Lefty Gomez, brilliant youngster, for the Yanks, against the thin, side-burned southern gentleman, Guy Bush, of the Cubs. The master minds are there, the field studded with baseball's greatest stars.

The thrill of thrills comes in the very first inning. Earl Combs may hit or go out, Jole Sewell do the same. Two ball players, taking their cuts. But third in that Yankee batting order comes Babe Ruth and the howl that rocks that stadium, the tangle that runs from one end of that packed park to the other, is the kind baseball's greatest slugger alone produces for his fandom.

Ruth will step up to the plate in the first inning, in the most glamorous spot of baseball's most glamorous career. It's his tenth world's series, a record no other player can challenge.

He holds 29 other world's series marks. Every time he does anything at the plate, whether it be striking out in the magnificent Ruth fashion, or poling a ball far from the premises for another home run, some sort of a record tumbles.

But more interesting at this moment even than his historic feats is the Babe himself, the great invalid, back at the age of 35, making perhaps his last appearance in world's series play.

Shoeman Above All
All through the last three weeks of the season, Ruth has been on the sidelines, threatened with an appendicitis operation. He raced home frantically from Detroit at the start of the Yankees' last road trip, pain tearing through his side. He went to bed and fought off the threat of an operation. He comes forth wan and weak, but the showman still making his curtain call. And how the Babe will love it.

The greatest showman of them all—"The Bam." The above photo of the 35-year-old Ruth was snapped shortly before his latest illness.

It has been at just such times as this in the past that Ruth rose to his greatest heights. Hobbled on an injured leg, swinging with one hand because of a damaged wrist, ill with fever—the Babe never failed to wobble out in the crisis and strike judging their play. Strong was especially effective at the net, scoring on hard hit overheads that bounded over the back stops for many winning points. Olivet also put up a game fight, and played the most consistently good tennis of his career.

In the singles engagements yesterday Charles Krom whipped Andy Ferguson in straight sets. The scores were 6-2, 6-2. Ferguson was no match for his opponent at any time, and Krom saved his winning shots for today, when he plays John Olivet in what promises to be an interesting match.

Other matches scheduled for today are Randall Ruse, defending champion, against Willie Chasenoff, high school star, Charles Lupton of Middletown versus the winner of the Ed Strong-Don Turner match, and John Olivet against Charles Krom.

Canzoneri Trains For Two Battles

Tony Canzoneri has resumed hard training at Pompton Lake, N. J., for two non-championship bouts before he defends the lightweight title in November against Billy Petrolle. The titleholder is to battle Lew Kirsh, east sider, in a ten-round bout Tuesday night at the Queensboro Stadium, and on October 5 will enter the ring for a ten-round struggle against Ray Miller, Chicagoan, at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, as the feature of a benefit for the Seventh and Eight District Masonic Camps.

Repealers To Meet Blue Sox Sunday

Jimmy Morgan's Repealers of the City Baseball League will cross bats with the Blue Sox at Hasbrouck Park, Delaware avenue, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A fast battle and a large turnout of fans is expected.

Battery for the Repealers will be Pres Knight pitching and Jole Hoffman catching. For the Sox, other Phil Peters, Joe Coughlin or Nick Huber will pitch and Jack Tomasecki will catch.

Connelly A. C. Will Play Port Ewen Team

The Connelly A. C. and Port Ewen baseball teams will add another chapter to 45 years of baseball rivalry between the two communities when they meet Sunday afternoon at the Hercules diamond in Port Ewen. A record crowd is expected to see the game that promises plenty of action. Batteries of the opposing sides have not been announced.

Albany Team Wins In Tennis Tourney

Alex Perle and Bill Sutherland of Albany, one of the finest doubles combinations in this part of the state, started their quest of the Kingston city tennis championship in doubles yesterday afternoon when they ran through two matches without the loss of a set. Their two wins, coupled with a first round bye, puts them in the final round of the upper bracket. In their first match yesterday afternoon they drew the Kingston combination of Forsyth and Spangenberg and walloped them to the tune of 6-0, 6-0. So superior were the Albany pair in all departments of play that the badly beaten Kingston team never had a chance. The Albany Aces encountered stouter opposition in the following round when they ran into Ed Strong and John Olivet, a new doubles team that possessed a surprising amount of strength. After two sparkling sets, the upstate duo easily won 6-4, 7-5, but the Kingston players led in the first set 3-0, and were ahead 5-4 in the final set. With more practice together, Strong and Olivet should develop into one of the most formidable doubles teams in this section, if their performance yesterday can be used in judging their play. Strong was especially effective at the net, scoring on hard hit overheads that bounded over the back stops for many winning points. Olivet also put up a game fight, and played the most consistently good tennis of his career.

Dempsey Declines Offer To Referee

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, has declined an invitation to act as referee in the Max Schmeling-Mickey Walker bout on Monday, September 26. In declining the invitation issued by William F. Carey, Madison Square Garden president, Dempsey said his reason for doing so was because of the association of Jack Kearns, his former manager, with the affair. Kearns is handling Walker.

"I am keenly interested in this bout and I want to sit on the sidelines without the responsibility of having work to do," said Dempsey. The old champ is suffering from an attack of hay fever which keeps him in his hotel most of the time. For this reason he was forced to disappoint a crowd at Duffy's gymnasium, New York city, two days in succession, failing to appear for boxing workouts.

Yellow Jackets To Practice Tonight

The Yellow Jacket football squad will practice at the 154th Field Artillery drill field, North Manor avenue, through the courtesy of Major O. R. Hildebrand, tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Every member of the squad is requested to attend the drill which will be in charge of Coach "Big Bill" O'Reilly.

Opening date of the local football season is Sunday, October 2, when the Yellow Jackets will meet the West Point Artillery at the Kingston Fair Grounds in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The rest of the Yellow Jacket schedule to date follows:

October 9—White Plains.
October 16—Woodlawn.
October 30—Poughkeepsie.
November 6—Yorktown Heights Collegians.
November 13—Inter-Nos.

All of the games slated will be played at the Fair Grounds. Manager Kestrowski expects the Jackets to take part in nine games up to Thanksgiving.

Mohonk Nine Booked For Stone Ridge Game

The annual baseball game between the Lake Mohonk team and the Stone Ridge nine will be played at Stone Ridge Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It is expected that the summer resort players will invade the Riders' territory with one of the strongest lineups they ever had.

Playing under the Stone Ridge pennant will be Slover, 1b; Kelder, 3b; Spevack, ss; Myers, 3b; Jansen, cf; Hulsair, rf; Muller, lf; Hornbeck, p; and Cornish, c.

Percy Slover, manager of the Schryvers in the City League, is handling the Stone Ridge team.

RAYMOND LOSES BOUT TO EASTERN BATTLER

Johnny Raymond, Flatbush mid-dleweight, lost a six-round decision to Tommy Armento of Bristol, Conn., at Poughkeepsie Wednesday in the semi-final of the boxing card put on at Columbus Institute for the benefit of the Jewish Community Center. Joe Nagay, a stable-mate of Raymond, defeated Young Chippy of Poughkeepsie, dropping him for the count of nine in the first of their four-round tilt. Joe Myers of Kingston took the decision from Mickey Ross, Poughkeepsie welterweight, in a four-frame encounter, knocking him down for a count of nine in the final round. Roy Van Buren of Kingston lost an unpopular verdict to Tut Stevenson of Bristol, Conn. The match was Ray's first since he boxed in the army as a National Guard scrapper.

Conduct Bruin's Smart Attack

Not Ruth or Gehrig, yet handy men to have at the plate in a pinch, the trio above are important cogs in the offensive the Cubs will lean against the Yanks in the world's series. Stephenson is one of the most dangerous hitters in the National League when a tally is needed. Hartnett and Herman tough to keep off the paths in his "loaded" role. Taylor has regained his batting eye, which tells it all.

Sawfish Probably Most Terrible of Ocean Fish

The whole scheme of nature is unspeakably cruel, and far more so among marine animals than among the beasts of the land jungles, John Edwin Hogg asserts, in the Los Angeles Times. The scheme of this cruelty seems to be represented in the food habits of the sawfish. These terrible creatures belong to the shark family. They are common throughout the Gulf of California. Specimens of them have been taken 20 feet in length and weighing a ton.

In general they are somewhat similar to a swordfish, but instead of being equipped with a sword, the sawfish has an elongated nasal appendage armed with a double row of suber-pointed saw teeth. He's a specialist in food, and while not averse to an occasional meal of marine carrion, he has a pleasant little habit of slaughtering his food off of living prey. He will slip up under any large marine creature he may come upon and with a terrific lunge tear into his victim with his saw. He usually manages to disembowel them. Then he feasts.

Pomona Grange Held Fall Session

The Pomona County Grange held its regular quarterly session at the new Highland Grange Hall at Highland in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on September 20. Worthy Master Harold V. Story presiding.

The large new hall and stage were beautifully decorated with gorgeous dahlias and other lovely fall flowers.

According to the reports from the various granges read by Mary Brick, all the granges in the county are in excellent condition and working hard to attain their aims.

The death of Abraham Wilkoff of Highland Grange and that of Hewitt Osborn of Poughkeepsie Grange were reported and resolutions of sympathy were sent to their respective granges.

The committee on resolutions appointed by the worthy master was Sister Young, Will Kraft and George Sall.

A resolution and greeting was also sent to C. C. Hardenburg of Stone Ridge, who is very ill. All hope for a speedy recovery to good health.

C. C. Harnes, chairman of the Fair Grounds at Kingston, said the fair would no doubt be held at a suitable place in Kingston next year.

He also said that the Agricultural Field Day held at Forsyth Park this year was a success. The following Granges won prizes for their very fine exhibits: Huguenot, first; Plattkill, second; Highland, third; and Rosendale, fourth.

Marie L. Ferguson reported for the 4-H work in the county. She said one Ulster county girl, Sarah Boice, who won first place in the county health contest, also won first place in the state health contest and she hoped Miss Boice would be able to go to Chicago to compete in the national contest. Sister Ferguson also said the 4-H children all enjoyed the camps at the "Y" camp at Glencliff.

Miss Elizabeth Arthur, New York state Grange lecturer, who was to be the speaker of the evening, was present at the afternoon session and responded with a few words of greeting.

Highland Grange organized a Juvenile Grange. The young officers were installed in July.

The prize speaking contest and the county bi-centennial celebration will be held on Thursday evening, October 27, at the Highland Grange Hall.

John Kraft, a past Pomona master, was present and told of some of his old time experiences in the Grange.

The next meeting of the Masters and Lecturers Association will be held at Plattkill on Thursday evening, November 10. Sister Jenkins urged all to attend.

Kathryn Roosa and Bessie Vanderpoort and Nathan Ackert were appointed as the committee on applications.

Albert Kurdt gave an account of the state fair at Syracuse. He said Ulster county was very well represented at the fair this year. Ulster County Farm Bureau won third prize on its fruit exhibit and first prize on its fine herd of 105 head of Holstein cattle. Ulster County Home Bureau received "Honorable Mention" for its exhibits. Mr. Kurdt said more people attended the fair on "Grange Day" than any of the days. The attendance this year was very poor, being about half as many as previous years.

The 4-H Clubs of the county were very well represented. Several members won first prizes on their poultry.

The question box in charge of the worthy lecturer was of great interest. Sister Arthur satisfactorily answered some of them.

The evening meeting was opened in the fifth degree after a most delicious supper served by the Highland Grange service hospitality committee.

Fifteen minutes of games, in charge of subordinate lecturers, were enjoyed by all.

Worthy Master Story requested that Subordinate Granges entitled to delegates to State Grange in February come prepared to submit the name of their choice of delegate at the December Pomona meeting.

Miss Nance, Home Bureau manager, spoke of the county dramatic contest to be held the middle of November. Those entering should send notice in before November 1.

Any community may enter the contest whether organized or not.

The fifth degree was conferred in full form upon the following candidates: Paul Marold, Dr. Carl Meekins, Pauline Gerkins, Mrs. Anna Deyo, Dorothy Roe, Bertha Albertson, Margaret Marold, John O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Randall, Rexford Schneider, John Mack, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Freer, Leander Dubois, Mrs. Julia Marold, Eugenia Sherwood, all of Highland Grange; Margaret Lachman of Lake Katrine Grange; Rose Hasbrouck of Rosendale Grange; and Mrs. Harry Gerow of Clintondale.

Miss Arthur, the guest speaker, told of the Grange ideals and spoke of the Grange room at the State Fair with its large banner 6 by 20, hanging on the wall showing what the Grange stands for.

Miss Arthur said one of the big elements in this depression is the tax problem. In China, she said, they tax those who don't improve their property, while here we are assessed more the more we paint and improve our property.

She told of the wonderful Walker-Gordon Dairy Farm in Jersey which covers 6,666 acres and has 1,369 cows. The herd contains Jerseys, Guernseys, Holsteins and Browns. Sales but no purebreds.

All the cows are washed and dried before being milked. Forty-seven are milked at a time by the Rotolactor. The milk sells for 22 cents a quart.

Miss Arthur said the Grange was a growing organization and builds for leadership. Let's keep it growing.

Dr. Meeker told of the work of the Boy Scouts and fear of the Scouts presented a first aid sketch.

Sister Lachman sang "In the Garden" very beautifully and graciously responded with an encore.

The Mandolin Club of Highland, under the direction of Mrs. Blakely, entertained with a number of lovely selections.

First Railroad Tickets

In 1836 Thomas Edmondson of Lancaster, England, was stationmaster and booking clerk at the little station of Milton, on the now Newcastle & Carlisle railway. Feeling the need to a systematic check on the issuance of tickets, he first wrote with pen and ink upon pieces of cardboard the names of the issuing and collecting stations, the number of the ticket and fare for the journey. The next evolved a case in which the various descriptions of tickets could be safely kept and at the same time conveniently used. This resulted in the Edmondson ticket case, which remained in use without improvement, until the invention of an American ticket case in 1874.

Good Word for Starting

The startling habit of trying to great flocks has been subject to comment by writers even as far back as 1709. The extraordinary precision with which the flock of hundreds, or even thousands, whirls, closes, opens up, rises and descends as if the whole body were a single living thing, all these movements being executed without a note of cry being uttered, must be seen to be appreciated and may be seen repeatedly with pleasure. This same flocking habit, which gives starlings much blame, may also be an asset. In the case of extreme insect plagues, when the huge flocks may descend upon a stricken area and "clean up" the insects in short order.

Plaintive "Love Song"

When you hear the plaintive drawn-out wail that is the note of the screech owl, you will wonder where the tattered little fellow ever got his name. If you are melancholy yourself you may vibrate in sympathy to the note of sadness in his tone. If you are superstitious, you will think of evil things to happen. To many folks the harmless little owl, smallest of all the "nocturnal" birds, is regarded as a bird of ill omen. But if you are a lover of the wild, and interested in living things for their own sake, you will probably say that the screech owl is only uttering his love song—appreciated by some except the one for whose ears it is intended.—Exchange.

INVALID PROSPERS DURING DEPRESSION

Paralysis Victim Views the Times With Optimism.

Chicago.—In her wheel chair, from which she has directed a paying business for a decade, Agathe Zimmer expresses confidence that "the worst of the depression is over."

"Despite the so-called depression I've made money," declared Miss Zimmer, an invalid since she was nine years old. "I'm not going to let the depression stop me from thinking I can't get business. If any one can get business, I can. If I lose a customer, I go out and get a new one."

Misfortune at Early Age.

A decade ago, when her family met financial reverses, Miss Zimmer decided she would become independent. Beginning with 25 orders, she built up a magazine subscription business that has 2,600 customers living in nearly every state and many foreign countries. She does not visit personally any prospective customer, but uses the telephone in her home hour after hour.

Miss Zimmer had infantile paralysis and spinal meningitis at nine. Then there was an operation, and later she fell from her wheel chair. It was two years before she could sit in the chair again.

Voices Bring Success.

While she was reading an advertisement she decided to go into the magazine subscription business. Many of her customers are society women. She gets other customers through gifts. For example, one of her customers is traveling in Europe. She makes a gift through Miss Zimmer. The recipient keeps on taking the magazine.

Success for Miss Zimmer depends upon personality in the voice over the telephone. The telephone voice and the speaking voice differ. Since the face can't be seen, the sound of the voice must tell the kind of person being solicited.

"I am proud of my work and of the fact that I made a success of it alone, without influence, without any one to help," Miss Zimmer says. "It is my ambition to be a really big agent. And there is further satisfaction in being able to give my mother, who is nearly eighty-five, every comfort."

Ballet in Skull for 15 Years Kills Ex-Soldier

Budapest.—John Nagy, after walking about serenely under sentence of death, likely to be executed at any moment, met his fate quite suddenly. As he slammed the door of his house to go to his morning's work, an Italian bullet which struck him in 1917, and which had remained in his skull, entered his brain and killed him.

Nagy had been a surgical phenomenon for years. When taken to a hospital on the Italian front it was found that a rifle bullet had struck him in the temple, penetrated the skull and lodged between the skull bones impinging on the brain.

According to all rules of medical science he should have been a dead man, and surgeons could not explain how he lived, save that by a miracle the brain remained untouched. An operation to remove the bullet would have killed him at once. So, after long treatment, he was released from the hospital. He was warned to live a very quiet life, as the slightest movement of the bullet would mean his end.

With the lapse of time caution seemed unnecessary. The man whom the doctors could prove should be dead married and had two children. He often laughed at the surgeons' warning.

Poppies Cost French Farmer Big Wheat Crop

Paris.—The "poppies red which bloom in Flanders fields" and which inspired many poets of the World war to write of their flaming beauty, cost the farmers of France this year 1,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Poppies, unknown before the war, have spread with such rapidity that they have become the greatest nuisance French farmers have to contend with. Some wheat crops have been cut by half as a result of the invasion. The ministry of agriculture is considering means of killing off the plant.

Angler's Fish Leaps Right Into His Boat

Penn Yan, N. Y.—Alfred Jensen dry cleaner, had no trouble catching a fine two-and-a-quarter pound bass when he went fishing in Lake Keuka. The fish jumped right out of the water and landed in Jensen's lap.

Jensen's fish story was corroborated by his nephew, Keith White, who was present when the catch was made. The two were in a boat about 25 feet from shore when the fish made its leap.

Gordon Kibler and his 15 piece
Columbia Broadcasting Orchestra appeared at the Golden Rule Inn Wednesday evening to play for a limited engagement ending Sunday, September 25.
This is one of the largest ensembles of musicians to play at the local restaurant, and while many bands with only a large number of players perform in a haphazard fashion, Mr.
Kibler has trained his subjects so well that harmony and time seem a second nature to them.
The band plays selections in all of the modern dance times, and performs with remarkable smoothness filling the room with melody and harmony that draws dancers to their feet when the first notes are struck.
It is one of the best bands to perform in this section in some time, and large crowds are expected to respond to the popular appeal of these musicians.

By C. A. Foster, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., issued the tentative schedule for the boys' and men's gym classes throughout the year. The boys' gym of the A, B and C groups will start next Monday, September 26, according to plans now arranged. The men's gym will not start until about the first of October.
Something new will be tried this year in the boys' department. Physical Director Foster plans to form clubs with the class of the A, B and C group, and in these clubs develop leadership. Each division will be independent of the other and elect its own officers. There would also be outside activities along with an occasional banquet.
The leadership suggested in these groups by Foster, would be put on a competitive basis. All the gym work, swimming pool activities along with outdoor work such as hikes, etc., will be taken into consideration by the supervisors of the boys' department and only the best will be selected for leaders.
The three groups are: A, made up of high school boys; B, older grammar school boys, and C, the cadet group with boys ranging from 9 to 11 years, inclusive. It is on these groups that the experiment will be made. As yet the boys have not met, so it is not known how the plan will be accepted.
On the other end of the boys' department is Mr. Fuller. He too has some new plans for the coming year. It is his intention to form a group of new clubs for the boys. These organizations will elect their own officers and handle their own activities. In the clubs mentioned below the Hi-Y and Cosmopolitan are now under way and very active. The Hi-Y held its first gathering of the year Wednesday night in the rooms at the Y where its members were served a fine supper.
The officers of the Hi-Y are already elected. They are: Francis Phillips, president; Seymour Coutant, vice president; Jack Pirie, secretary; Ralph Woolsey, treasurer.
The clubs that will be supervised by the leaders of the boys' department this winter will be Hi-Y, Friendly Indians, Cosmopolitan, Stamp Club, Archery, Handicraft, Radio and Boy Scout. There is also a Hi-Y Auxiliary composed of the girls of the high school who serve the dinners throughout the winter to the boys during the weekly meeting.
The tentative boys' schedule:
Monday, September 26, at 3:30 p. m., Student A class; 7 p. m., Employed Boys' class.
Tuesday, 4 p. m., Student B class; 5 p. m., Student C class, swimming.
Wednesday, 4 p. m., Leader training corps; 4:45 p. m., Junior life saving instructions.
Thursday, 3:30 p. m., Students A class; 7 p. m., Employed Boys' class.
Friday, 4 p. m., Beginners' swimming class and boys' diving.
Saturday, 9 a. m., Student C class. 10:30 a. m., Student B class.
All these gym periods are followed by a period of 45 minutes swimming under the direction of competent leaders, supervised by the physical director.

The tentative men's schedule:
Monday, October 3, at 12:15 p. m., Business Men's class; 8 p. m., Senior class.
Tuesday, 5:30 p. m., Business Men's class.
Wednesday, 7 p. m., Men's swimming class and Senior life saving instructions; 8 p. m., Senior Game League.
Thursday, 8 p. m., Business Men's Volleyball.
Friday, 5:30 p. m., Business Men's Class; 8 p. m., Senior Class.
Saturday afternoon after 2 o'clock, Senior recreation and game period.
Howling Alley.
The Y. M. C. A. howling alleys will open about October 1. The alleys have been conditioned for the coming season. It is expected that the Merchants, City and Church Leagues will again organize and form a schedule for the winter.
Life Saving Group.
Increasing interest in the American Life Saving Corps led to many young men of Kingston taking their senior course and passing it this summer under the direction of Carlton J. Foster.
This group of boys, numbering 24, has banded together and plans to form a local organization to promote safety in the water sport. The members of this group have made application for a charter of affiliation with the American Red Cross in Washington, D. C. As yet nothing definite has been received in return.
However, these boys, whose names appear below, mean to promote water safety and give instructions to any group wishing to be taught the methods of senior life saving. This group is also under the supervision of Carlton J. Foster.

Canadians Make Claim for World's Record Cow
Some United States dispatches have recently been received which credit a Holstein cow owned and bred in Minnesota with a world's record for combined milk and butter production in 365 days. Lady Pride Pontiac, Llewellyn, owned by F. E. Murphy, Breckenridge, Minn., gave 35,829 pounds of milk and 1,273 pounds of butterfat, a test of 3.57 per cent. Such a combined production is outstanding and indicates that efforts to raise the standards of the Holstein breed are continuing in spite of conditions. However, Canadians can still point with pride to the world's record for butterfat production, which is still held by that famous cow, DeKol Plus Regis Dixie, owned by Raymondale farm, Vaudeville, Que. Dead some three years now, her production of 1,384 pounds of butterfat in one year seems likely to remain unchallenged for some years yet.—Montreal Family Herald.

Effect of Feed on Milk
Much experimental feeding of dairy cows has been done at various times to determine to what extent the composition of milk is influenced by the character of the ration fed. In a general way investigators are agreed that the nature of the feed a cow is fed does not change the composition of the milk. If a cow is given too little protein, for example, she will draw upon her body protein as long as that is possible to make up for the deficiency in that constituent in her ration. When that can no longer be done the quantity of the milk falls off to a point that can be maintained by the protein supplied in the feed. But the composition of the milk itself remains constant.—Wisconsin Agriculturist.

Acreage for Each Cow
The acreage allowed per cow depends to a great extent upon the productivity of the soil, but on good land one-half an acre will produce sufficient feed for spring grazing and will also leave a good amount of material to cut for hay or to turn under for soil improvement. A fertile soil, however, is necessary for best results in any pasture and this should be fertilized with from four to five hundred pounds of a complete high grade fertilizer. With proper fertilization and the addition of two tons of ground limestone one acre will furnish sufficient grazing for two animals.

What They Do in Oregon
Many dairy farmers have not yet learned the value of a dairy herd improvement association, but here are some who have. The Klamath association of Oregon found itself unable to continue testing this year. The 11 dairymen left after reorganization had only enough work to keep a tester busy half time, so in order to keep the association going they arranged to employ him on their farms at regular farm wages during the other two weeks of each month.

Presbyterian Food Sale
Circle No. 1 of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church will hold a food sale at the Rose & Gorman store, North Front street, Saturday, September 24, starting at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

FARM BUREAU PLANS WAR TO THE DEATH ON RATS.
The Farm Bureau is making plans for an intensive campaign to exterminate rats. The campaign is open to city and village residents as well as all farmers. It is planned to receive orders for the special bait in advance, distribute it within a few days and have everyone set the bait the night of October 31.
Last fall a few hundred orders of the special bait prepared by the United States Biological Survey, were distributed, but the demand makes it necessary to put on an intensive drive this fall. The ingredient used in the bait is red squill. This is the best rat poison known because it is practically harmless to humans, domestic animals and poultry, but very toxic to rats and house mice.
At first the mere announcement of a rat campaign may seem foolish, but a few figures will show that it is a problem that deserves serious consideration. It is estimated that rats cost $200,000,000 every year in the United States alone, and destroy as much as 200,000 farmers can produce. Rats have been known to be responsible for the spread of seven human diseases. They migrate readily from one place to another, thus spreading disease and destruction. If left entirely alone and none died, a pair of rats could produce 350 million offspring in three years. They are not only a farmers' problem but are serious pests in many sections of our cities and many homes.
Albert Kurdt, manager of the Farm Bureau, has announced that anyone interested in securing some of the special prepared bait should leave their orders at the Farm Bureau office, 74 John street, Kingston. The cost will be 50 cents per order of three cans, payable at time of delivery. Members of the Farm Bureau will receive an order for the bait in the near future. On order is sufficient to bait an average size farm, including the house, barn and one or two other buildings. Several homes can be baited on one order.
